

uct and won't install the software if that is the case. After installation, the Google Updater will continue to sit in your system tray and monitor for any updates to the installed software. If new versions of the software become available, the Updater will show notifications of their availability for installation.