

Scrapping Tools: Scrapboy

Serious Orkut users with a large friend network would feel a strong itch to scrap frequently. For such people, dedicated software like the free Scrapboy would be worth every KB of its 25 MB download. About 90 per cent of the large download size is the .NET framework, unfortunately a discrete download file could not be found even on the site—scrapboy.com. On installing and running Scrapboy, you are presented with an IM-client-esque interface. You log in using your Orkut account, and the friend details from the Orkut site are downloaded and shown. As in IM Clients there are two windows, one shows the friends, while the other shows the scraps and allows replying to them. Text formatting can be easily done as in the case of IM clients.

While a check for new scraps is made on logging in, this is not repeated, so you need to frequently click on the “Click here to retrieve new scraps” link. Otherwise, Scrapboy offers a convenient way to indulge in scrapping.
