

For example, Tata, a diversified company, has multiple products and each product has multiple ads for different regions. The configuration for such a scenario can be done at the second page.

Standard Edition also provides

- Extensive report of impressions (number of ads that were displayed for that keyword)
- Number of times users clicked on your ads
- Statistics of impressions and click rates
- Billing of your ads, and custom reports like the region where the most number of clicks were generated, and the time of the clicks
- A graphical representation of the number of times each keyword was typed that month
- A traffic estimator that can estimate the traffic of certain keyword. It gives you the estimate as to when a particular keyword search was more, like the time of a month or a month of a year.
- Keyword tips so as to make the ad pop up more often
- An option to get the statistics of keywords, so that you can understand which keyword was used more often in the set of keywords that you chose—allowing you to strategise and plan

What is the most you would like to spend, on average, per day?

The daily budget controls your costs. When the daily limit is reached, on average, your ad will stop showing. (The budget controls the frequency of your ad, not its position.) Raise or lower your budget as often as you like.

Enter your daily budget:

What is the maximum you are willing to pay each time someone clicks on

You influence your ad's position by setting its maximum cost per click (CPC) . The max CPC determines the maximum amount you're willing to pay each time a user clicks on your ad. Your max CPC can be changed as often as you like.

Enter your maximum CPC: (Minimum: 0.45)

Higher CPCs lead to higher ad positions, which usually get more clicks.
