

information. But we should mention that the collection of history articles does include several informative ones on British and Mughal India.

The “Our Heritage” link at the left is interesting. You’ll find links to Architecture, Buddhism, Culture, People, Places, and so on. These are loosely related to history:

Articles without a connection—but they’re good for example, the articles on Buddhism focus more on the religious aspect, but do cover some of the historical.