

Going Mobile

Social Web sites are foraying into new frontiers of social networking—to your mobile phone. Yes, that little gadget you are carrying in your hand or pocket right now is capable of connecting you to all your friends... on the move. Here we will review some of these early movers in the mobile social networking scene.