

Register the database with OOO

We'll assume you'll be editing the table immediately. If not, just open Base again and select Open an existing database file when you start and select the database.

When you click Finish, you will be prompted for the database file name and the location to save it to. Add these details and click

Using the Table Wizard