

Changing field formats and parameters different fields—we have some really long names and addresses here in India! Click Next to create your primary key. A primary key is what distinguishes one record in your database from another, you can just set Base to automatically create it for you—or you can choose your own. We prefer leaving such things to the software instead of risking messing up.

Creating your database table