

Now, you can safely use Gmail and still present a professional face to your customers, and business partners, and also use your personal Gmail ID(s) for keeping in touch with friends without having to log in to more than one e-mail application.

Consolidate all your mail IDs into your Gmail account

6.2.2 Using Google Apps

If you have a registered domain name and want to use that ID as your primary mail ID, Google Apps is a good choice. The Standard Edition gives you as much space as the free Gmail.com version, which is currently about 2.8 GB (though Google has only advertised 2 GB for the Standard Edition), unlimited user accounts, mobile access, plus access to Google Docs and all other Google services. The Standard Edition's primary attraction is that you can

Free e-mail hosting with Google Apps