

Outlining

Creating your PowerPoint content can be time consuming if you don't have all your thoughts in order. Further, when working on the presentation your flow of thoughts may get disrupted when switching back and forth between slides. You may get distracted by design considerations and end up wasting time tweaking a layout when you should be actually working on the content. Outlining is a method that helps you save time on developing your content.