

You can perform keyword searches for movie clips located in either your collection or in the Microsoft Office collection (offline). Select the movie you want to add, then click OK. A speaker icon will appear at the centre of the slide.

To use the Microsoft Clip Organizer to organise clips located on your computer, click Organize Clips... . The Clip Organizer window will pop up, with a tree structure of the Clip Art collection. These consist of those that load while you installed Office, and others that it finds on your computer.

15.1.2 Add A Movie From Anywhere On The Computer

- Select the slide to which you want to add the clip.
- Select Insert > Movies and Sounds (In PowerPoint 2007: Insert tab > Media Clips group > Movie icon).
- From the drop-down menu, select Movie from File.

Once you've selected the clip you want, a dialog box will pop up: How do you want the movie to start in the slide show. This has options to play the movie either automatically or upon a mouse-click.

You can choose the placement of the frame; by default, it is placed in the centre. Clip settings such as frame resizing, adjusting clip volume, and others can be accessed by a right-click on the movie frame.

(With PowerPoint 2007, when you click on the movie frame, the Movie Tools tab appears on the title bar of the window. This tab gives you various movie-frame customising options. Choose the appropriate ones from the Movie Options group under Movie Tools > Options).

PowerPoint supports almost all the popular movie formats such as .AVI and .MPG. However, make sure you have installed codec packs such as K-Lite Mega codec pack, and also that you have Windows Media Player 8 or above.
