

limits, and the other things that get displayed in the viewer's browser before the broadcast begins. You can also set an audio message alert when a user joins the broadcast.

- Click Start when ready.

Time is crucial. In an organisation, it's difficult to have all employees under one roof at the same time and speak to each of them. An organisation with branches all over a country or different countries broadcasting a presentation on sales targets saves time and resources.

The broadcast feature can also be used by institutions that offer correspondence courses. A presentation on a topic can be broadcast at a pre-determined time, and students' feedback can be had at the same time.