

Working With Text

Okay, so now you've mastered the slide master. You've finally realised that making a PowerPoint presentation isn't rocket science. If you're waiting for the difficult part, don't hold your breath—because from here it just gets easier and easier. The time has come to talk of cabbages and kings—or the stuff that you're going to fill the presentation with: in short, the words.