

File Sharing

The most popular way to transfer data across the Net is through the client / server model; the alternative, and now very popular, method is called the Peer-to-Peer or P2P model. In this chapter, we are concerned with the latter.