

cafes that do not feature separate cubicles for privacy.

Fortunately, software exists to combat some of these problems. Corallo Software's Virtual Keyboard application provides an option to make the keyboard transparent (0-90%) when you move the cursor away. It can handle command-key combinations, modifier key-click combinations and auto-key repeat. The shareware program is applicable for 14 days before registration but a Lite freeware version is also available. Both have support for all operating systems, including Mac OS 8 and Intel-based Macs.
