

between two pseudorandom data passes. Deleting all the existing data in the hard drive, then erasing all the empty space using Eraser will securely delete all the data on your hard drive. Now even specialists cannot recover the data easily from your hard disk. It is safe to sell or dispose hard disks only after you have securely deleted all the data on the drive.