

The same image as that of our image plane and render this

We can notice the background sort of distorted, as the mapping on the object does not match the image in that of the camera plane.

Now we need to tell the object has to get not the planer mapping but mapping from the camera. Select the projection mapping from the hypergraph menu

