

4. Hosting options

The hosting plan you or your client needs, depends on the nature of your client's business. Depending on whether your client is planning a social networking site, a simple static page or a mix of rich multimedia applications including video, the bandwidth requirements would vary significantly. Most service providers charge for factors such as monthly data transfers, the kind of database and server platform you would use. Therefore, choosing the hosting platform for