Ominifocus gets great reviews on a consistent basis. The only complaints users have are with the price and the fact that you cannot drag and drop tasks. Other than that, it consistently gets 5 stars.

Task Task

Here is a welcome addition to the iPad task management app set. Task Task is a powerful, flexible and elegant task management application that is also sleek and offers an amazing range of features.

This very simple iPad task management app allows you to create lists that you can populate with tasks. It's a very simple idea but it gets the job done! The interface looks just like sheets of paper so you feel like you have a real list to keep you organised. There are also three “smart lists”: Today, Tomorrow, and Overdue. These lists are populated based on the dates you enter.

Beyond the smart lists, you can create your own lists and tasks which include priorities, notes, and due dates. Users really like this app for its interface and simplicity. Most people generally agree that it's like Task Cards which is to say it is best for simple lists and to-do's. No major complaints with the app. It's pretty much “What you see is what you get”.
