

bada Application Development process

Your bada developer profile

1. Start the profile creation wizard on the bada developer site by selecting My Applications > Application Manager, and on the displayed screen, click Generate a New Application Profile.
2. In the Set your application name field, define the application name, and fill the Describe your application field.
3. The name of your application must be 4-20 characters long.
4. Click Next.

In the Set your application version field, assign a version number for the application.

The application version number is set to 1.0.0 by default. You can revise the application version number as your application matures and is upgraded. The supported range of application version numbers vary from 0.0.1 to 35.35.1295.

5. In the Select your bada API version field, select the appropriate version.