

Pocket

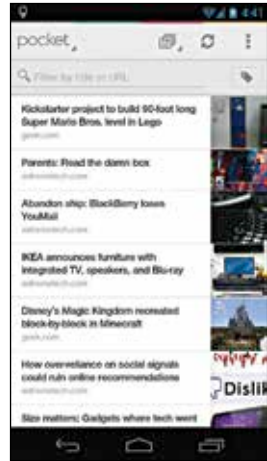

There are many a time we see something interesting on the net, but can't view it at the moment. Pocket is a very nifty app for archiving these for later reading. Be it a page on the internet, or a story on Flipboard or Zite, you can simply add them to Pocket. It also has the ability to download the content for offline viewing. For AMOLED screen users, there's a nifty dark-background-white-text option, so there's no bright light in your face and battery life is also saved. You can also log in with the same account on Pocket using any web browser. Also, it has plug-ins for popular browsers such

Price: Free

Link: <http://dgit.in/FTPocket>

BuzzFeed

With all the seriousness in this world, this app will surely not be the bearer of bad news every few minutes. On the contrary, BuzzFeed is the hotspot for all things viral. So, if you're feeling dull, open the app to see the constantly updated videos, links and images to unleash the LOL. This site is a portal to all the sorts of things your friends post on their Facebook walls (and which you end up liking). The app maintains the design of the website, so regulars at BuzzFeed will feel right at home.

Price: Free

Link: <http://dgit.in/FTBuzzFeed>