

BodBot

BodBot is a personalized trainer app. The content isn't overwhelming — it just asks you basic questions such as gender, the parts of your body that need work, amount of time you have for workout every day, preference of workout location (home or gym etc.) Then, it automatically throws up an exercise schedule for you to follow. It also has embedded videos to show you exactly how a particular exercise is done. If you don't like a particular type of exercise, BodBot will give you an alternative.

Price: Free

Link: <http://dgit.in/FTBodBot>

Sweet'N'Spicy

Food is the one of the keys to good health. This app has over 6,500 recipes and 1,200 DIY videos on how to cook a recipe. You have vegetarian, non-vegetarian, regional and even vegan meals. Then there's also a 30-minute recipe section. Since Indian food can get rich and creamy, there's a diet section and a calorie measure for each dish. You can pose question to experts if you're confused. Lastly, the My Kitchen feature can give you a recipe based on the ingredients you have at hand.

Price: Free

Link: <http://dgit.in/FTSweetSpicy>