

Magic 8 Ball

If you're constantly fretting about what the future holds for you, this app is not for you. However, if you're the quirky kind, get this one. My Magic 8 Ball is an app that supposedly tells you about your future. Well, it doesn't really. The app features an image of the Magic 8 ball that offers up answers to your questions when you shake your phone. No point questioning the logic behind the Magic 8 Ball's answers such as 'Better not tell you now", "My reply is no" or "Yes, Definitely".

Hello Cow

Ever so often you come across an invention that really has no reason to exist. Amongst such an imaginary list you could easily add the paid version of WinZip, but well that's another discussion altogether. What we have in the discussion at hand is this nonsensical little app called Hello Cow. Hello Cow is the one of the silliest apps out there. The app features a rather sad looking, attention-seeking cow. The app allows you to poke your virtual 'moo' friend.

And the best response she'll have to your poke would be, well, a moo. That's it. Don't bother asking us about the logic behind this app. Our guess is as good as yours. Get this one if you love cows or well, if you're just plain weird like us. Children also love this app.
