

Google Play

complaints of malwares making a way into the store. Google has introduced a lot of safeguards into the system particularly with the introduction of Google Bouncer which has led to a marked decrease in the amount malware submissions. Android 4.2 Jelly Bean also features an app scanner built into the system which notifies the user of any malicious activities.

Apple App Store

Apple pioneered digital content distribution with iTunes, during the iPod-era. They extended it to the then newly launched iPhone through the App Store. The App Store as of June 2013, boasts of about 9,00,000 apps with the total download count crossing 50 billion. An average application is usually downloaded about 5000 times. You can download the apps either directly