

tious and verify that your dual / triple monitor setup will be viable using the other ports.

4. Always ensure that your power supply can handle the graphics card's full workload for around an hour. Cheap power supplies have been known to burn out both the GPU and other peripherals attached on the same rail. 