

range products done in a way that makes them look high-end. Its users span the widest range from Documentary Filmmakers, YouTube Video Makers, Independent Filmmakers as well as TV and News broadcasters. The versatility of Apple's Final Cut Pro system is not as easily found in Avid and is welcoming to newcomers and professionals alike. Its in fact one of the key non-linear editing systems taught in professional universities for journalism and filmmaking due to its affordability and high quality.

The sister product for FCP X is the Logic Pro digital audio workstation that provides the same level of ease in usage and results. Both software have a good compatibility where Logic Pro X can help bring out the best audio features of your video production, from digital instrumentation to audio effects. The highly intuitive interface allows you to design audio tracks using virtual instruments in the broadest range possible and take advantage of the various plug-ins that can broaden the sound library you wish to use for effects. The Apple app GarageBand which many Apple users are familiar with can also be integrated into the Logic Pro X workflow so that the learning curve is lessened significantly. The Logic Pro X app can be downloaded from the iTunes Store for GBP 140 or Rs.14,000/- directly onto your system and mobile devices.

Adobe Premiere Pro, After Effects and Audition

The Adobe Premiere Pro family of non-linear editing tools is the most widely used and popular software currently in use - from professional post-production studios to casual home users. The wide spread usage is helped by the fact of its cost effectiveness and availability across both Mac and PC platforms. The current version of Adobe is the Premier Pro Creative Cloud package which also offers a convenient subscription plan. Adobe offers both Premiere Pro, Audition and After Effects as a part of its Creative Cloud suite either as stand alone products or a in a complete suite with other tools like Photoshop. The monthly subscription for the single app is Rs.1,600/- while an annual prepaid plan costs Rs. 12,000/- which can also be paid month to month at Rs. 1,000/-. The complete Creative Cloud is for Rs. 32,400/- for annual subscriptions and includes all of Adobe's software. Students and