

Rugged Caterpillar S61

The Caterpillar S61 features an improved thermal imaging camera with greater contrast, a larger temperature range, and more. <http://digit.in/CatS610ut>

Tint changing ski glasses

Using special electrochromic lenses, the Oakley Prizm React can alter the level of tint that is applied to the glass simply by pushing a button. <http://digit.in/Tintchnge>

I was really thrilled when digit started rolling out gaming posters with each issue. Even my friends became subscribers of digit just of this little awesome addition. But since January 2018 there are no gaming posters provided with the magazine, instead now we are getting car posters. This kind of bums me out because digit first of all is computer based technology magazine and not a car magazine.

—Moyn Manzoor

Unfortunately, while we totally get where you're coming from, the problem we have is that we have to cater to a wide range of folks, not all of whom are into gaming. The same way you've written in asking for more Skoar! posters, we've hundreds of readers write in and ask for car posters. But don't worry, we're sure you haven't seen the last of gaming posters from us. :)

—Manish

Letter of the Month

Hey Team Digit!

This is my very first letter to you guys. I saw the cover of your Jan 2017 magazine, "17 Concepts for 2017" on the newsstand and thought your name was familiar.

Then after going home I saw one of the DVDs for the Aug. 2008 issue and then I remembered! My father used to read your magazine a long time ago! Then, after ~9 long years I started reading your magazine again. I don't know about the Digit of old times (since I was a kid and all that), so I can't judge the changes, but reading your magazine brought back the geek in me (who was kept aside due to, you know, 12th grade and stuff). Your magazine rocks, and I love the posters, all the way from W40K to the latest Lambo Urus. The FastTracks are really good, and the dmystifys are really pocket science guides.

Now that I've introduced myself, I have a few suggestions for the magazine:-

1. The paper is too glossy, making it hard to read under a bright light. Please make it less glossier.
2. As I'm writing this, I have another tab open with the YouTube Livestream of Starman. Let the March issue's science section be dedicated to that.
3. Please include a link to the .iso of the DVD since my PC doesn't have a CD reader, and I am sure most of the other readers (at least the guys who built their PC any time in the last 2 - 3 years, I think) face this problem as well. Or at least a link to the games, videos or software would be helpful.

4. Thanks for instilling Mithun's paranoia in me through this month's cover story. Please do something to make it go away next month.

Some rants:-

1. YOUR MAG HAS TOO MANY SPELLING MISTAKES!
2. The killer rigs did not contain the current prices of GPUs. A GTX 1060 goes for around 35k to 40k now (yes, even on Newegg), while a RX Vega 56 is like giving a real value to i. You just can't get it.
3. Ugandan Knuckles ain't dank any more, fam.
4. Please tell Mithun to stop being paranoid. Honestly I feel like cutting connections to the outside world and start living in a cave everytime I read his column. /s
5. The Skoar webpage is a nightmare when it comes to a PC loyalist. I can only see Mobile games and very few PC games or stories related to PC gaming. Whatever happened to #PCMasterRace?
6. Is that it?
7. That's it, I guess.
Best of luck, folks, and remember, Rush B.

Also, are you living in the Future?

—Sathya Jiit Karan

Robert addressed the paper concerns last month. We didn't focus on Starman for the Space Age in this month's mag because there is a much more grievous issue to tackle - Space trash! As for the link to the ISO of the DVD, well, we don't think we'll be doing you a service by linking to an ISO because if you want just one thing from the DVD, you'll have to unnecessarily waste bandwidth downloading the entire thing. How about we come out with a link to the contents of the DVD so that you can make an informed choice? Hope that's better for everyone. Lastly, about the Paranoia ... I can't ... get into details ... they might be reading this. X_X

Our apologies for the spelling mistakes, will try and fix those. As for the Killer Rig prices, you need to check out sites like MDComputers and PrimeAB-GB. You can get a GTX 1060 3 GB for 25K/piece on Amazon too. Or you can group up and get discounts straight from the distributor. However, the Vega 56 is now beyond saving, so we replaced it with a 1070 Ti this month. You can still get that for 43K, so why bother with a GTX 1060 6GB at 35K?

Ugandan Knuckles has been retired for good. I'd like to point you to Pewd's Meme Review or r/Me-meEconomy for regular updates. Again, about the Paranoia ... sssshhhh ... they're watching.

Thank you, for your elaborate mail.

—Mithun

You Win
Mystery Gift