

Facebook logged text, phone data

Facebook has been logging call metadata, including contacts, numbers, and the length of each call for years. <https://dgit.in/stahpfb>

Mount Etna is sea bound

Scientists have established that Europe's most active volcano is sliding towards the Mediterranean Sea. <https://dgit.in/slidedcano> that time, you guys did not have Cult. So try shifting appropriate content from Alt to Cult. For example, I think Movie and Series reviews could come under Cult. (I think reading this mail can make you dizzy. Alt-Cult-Alt-Cult... LOL) d My apologies if the typos have gone up, will try and reduce that immediately. If I have made factual mistakes, please point them out, I'd like to carry a corrigendum and inform readers about the same, plus I can fix it in the PDFs which we share along with special issues.

—Shashwat Gupta

The costs of DVDs has gone up sadly, and one DVD costs about as much as 2 dmystifys!

Plus, we get plenty of readers writing in saying stop the DVD (as they don't even have DVD drives) and put more books like dmystify... so we're kind of stuck between a rock and a hard place.

Letter of the Month

Respected Sir,

Our English curriculum in schools always made us practice writing a 'Letter to the Editor', but I never thought I would actually be writing one. Although my Phone, PS4 (Sorry Master Race) and PC were confiscated by my parents for the duration of the Board Exams, this magazine kept me in touch with technology and culture (also kept me sane to be honest). Thank you Team Digit for giving me this shiny covered lifeline when I was clobbered by my studies and parents.

Some Suggestions:

1. Can you change the last page of the mag to something else, maybe a well written conclusion, things to look out for in the next issue, Digit team group Photo? (An advertisement is not the way to go for the last page of such a cool magazine)
2. Have you considered upgrading/ changing The Cartoon Graphics for Agent001 and others such. (They look really dated)
3. Can you put up a list of all groundbreaking products (91-100) in Reviews ever. (I've never seen a single one)
4. Can you put up a way of selling (Used/Old/Reviewed/Unwanted) good PC components lying in the workshop and gathering dust? (Well the Class 12th boards are over and I could use a spare GTX1080Ti)
5. In the Digit Config Recommended Builds Section, The difference between Mid-Range and Video/

CAD Rig is too large. Maybe you could dump the Entry Level and add one around ~1,20,000 to 1,70,000 range.

Some points of criticism:

6. 1) WHOEVER ASKED FOR CAR POSTERS PLEASE TELL THEM TO BUY 'TOP GEAR' OR A GOOD PRINTER! GAMING POSTERS PLEASE
7. 2) The Scotch Tape you use in the Collector's edition packaging is a pain in the neck to remove without tearing the front page. Can you consider an alternative? (Maybe Cardboard Tabs?)

That's all and keep those pretty issues coming.

P.S. That chat bot on dgit.in is so annoying. It's just a damn Search Bar. Please get rid of it!

—Varun Phadke

Hey Varun,

Hope you did well in the exams, and glad we were there for you when you needed it. :-)

1. Sorry, if an advertiser insists on and pays for that spot, and we're not bothered by it. We do not interfere with advertisers, and they don't interfere with us, because we have a strict policy of no contact between sales and editorial folk, to prevent even a hint of assumed bias.

2. We should, you're very right. Will ask our design team to reinvent Agent001 :-)
3. There aren't many, we're very strict, and very stingy with our scoring. Even if older products scored between 91 and 100, they would not score that now, so it seems kind of pointless. India's Mangalyaan mission was scored 100, and that's the only rating of ours that is timeless.
4. Join our forum (geek.digit.in/community) and sell your old stuff in the Bazaar section. Remember though, these are geeks like you, so they will try to lowball you.
5. Will look at adding another rig. Can't dump the Entry Level, that's the most popular by far!
6. Oh come on, everyone loves sexy cars! The poster price is paid for by our sister venture Digit Auto, and without them we'd have no poster... So it's this or nothing.
7. I have been asked not to talk about the darn tape as I am trying to control my blood pressure, and that tape makes my blood boil. We've spend thousands on experimenting with tape, and there's just no good alternatives available. Please subscribe, not only will you get it delivered to you, you will also get all the elements sans any tape.

PS: We swear, we try to make the chatbot more interesting, but the code keeps breaking itself. That thing is the devil's spawn, and we're afraid if we irritate it too much it might go Skynet.

—Robert

You Win
Mystery Gift