If you are ever curious about what the Digit gang is up to, this is the place to get all the inside info. From the latest game we're obsessing about to the newest intern we're driving up the wall – it's all here folks.

Facebook's Cambridge Analytica scandal was centrestage this month. Naturally, we were quite interested in figuring out our psychographic profiles as well. Given how cautious most of us are about what we share, we ended up with some really funny results. Souvik's profile put him down as a virile Bhartiya Purush. Why? Because the test thinks he is 99% masculine. Also, he is reportedly single. We'd like to know what his girlfriend has to say about that.

One of the odd (for you, not for us) things you'd see upon entering the Test Centre is that people will randomly pull an accent out of the blue. So when Monit saw the multicultural congress in session, he decided to join in as well with his "own take" of the Wakandan accent. Beeeeeg meestake! What followed were hours of ridicule upon the poor guy for his cheap imitation. We at Digit care about quality, and if you're pulling an accent, you better get your enunciations right.

Manish was a bit sad last month because he didn't finish his cardboard DIY. So when he had the opportunity to do it again, his happiness knew no bounds. Little did he realise that he now had the full attention of the others. And like vultures they descended upon him, examining minutely each and every detail, ~~ridiculing~~ critiquing his methods, and dishing out tonnes of unwanted advice. But the boy plowed through and delivered. It ... looked like a pistol, and cocked like a pistol but shot like a rotten banana that'd slipped out from its sheath. Tsk, tsk, tsk. Much improvement is needed.

DID YOU HEAR PUBG IS NOW ON MOBILE??? With every outlet, mainstream or gaming or otherwise, writing about PUBG coming to Android, we too were drawn into the craze yet again. Arnab started off first, and ended up last. Yeah, he sucked. (Nah, he came 2nd). Abhijit and Manish have been se-cretive about their ~~losses~~ victories. And Mithun came first in every match, but little did he know that he was playing against bots. But the fun begins in co-op and it's very much like the PC game. Sure mobile controls are a pain but the overall experience has been so good that you're quite likely to see everyone huddled over their phones trying to bag that elusive Chicken Dinner.

In other news, Abhijit lost his wallet. If you've been reading this section for a while then you'd remember he also had his mobile stolen. He's yet to nail down exactly where he lost the wallet. Either it was enroute to the office or while he was at the bank. Or perhaps, it was when he was about to leave the office. Anyways, he's missing his Voter ID, Debit card, ₹120 bucks and a railway pass. In other news, we've instituted a new "Lost and Found" section at the office, and someone had forgotten their Voter ID, Debit card, ₹120 bucks and a railway pass in the office. Now who could that be, we wonder?
