reviews as mine, mainly because they're so carefully written that it is as if I am using the device vicariously.

One of my suggestions for the April issue would be (I'm pretty damn sure you have received this) a detailed article on Cambridge Analytica and what can we as users do now. It would be a bonus to get this very article from Mithun himself. Somehow I believe that when the news came out, Mithun must've come out of his room and had one of the biggest, "I told you so" moment.

Lastly, I wanted to know if you ship in the US (New Jersey)? I would be moving to the states for studies in a few months and would love to have an actual hardcopy of the magazine to read. Thank you!

d Your wish is our command, except that Mithun didn't write it, because he is too busy messing with his psychographic profile. Even if Mithun doesn't tell us so, he will still tell us so in the end, because he insists that he is always right, especially when he is wrong. Personally I think it's the cooking of the brain because of excessive tin foil hat wearing...

You can get Digit in the US, but it won't be cheap. Just head on over to digit.in/subscribe and choose the "I want an international subscription (delivery is outside India)" option. The extra cost is all because of courier charges. We don't make anything extra. But write in to help@digit.in and ask for a discounted shipping method which will take longer but might work out cheaper. We're happy to make exceptions for existing subscribers. Make sure to mark me as well (editor@digit.in) and we'll work out something.

Hi team, have you covered Large Hadron Collider? I read in a recent issue that your team gave Mangalyaan full marks in tech. I am curious to know how many marks would you team give Large Hadron Collider!!

I am your (and also Chip's; though they are no longer functional) reader from past 16 years, though writing to you for the first time.

– Naval Singh, IBM, Bangalore

Always nice to hear from our most loyal readers. As you can see in this issue, your wish is our command. Hope you like the dmystify book of the LHC. To be honest, although we are never biased with reviews, we were very biased about Mangalyaan. We'd give the LHC 9.9999 / 10, because Mangalyaan is just that little bit more special to all of us Indians.

I am in an English medium, and I've been writing a 'letter to editor' (virtually), but now I'm actually writing a real one. I've started reading this magazine in the last 6 months. At first in my school library, then I used to buy it from January 2017.

Things I liked in this Issue:

1. The article about the spreadsheet was amazing. I didn't know about the history before, and it was an interesting read.
2. The DIY cardboard pistol was also great. I had also made one, but not perfectly.
3. The comparison of streaming music services was awesome.
4. I liked the review about Dell Inspiron 13 7373 2-in-1.
5. Satellite systems.
6. Armour design in Sci-fi.
7. SKOAR! and the dmystify were also amazing.

Some suggestions for the upcoming issues:

1. Can u give some Survival-or-fighting games for PC in DvD.
2. Can u give a poster of a car named 'koenigsegg Agera R'.
3. Can u write about 'Extraterrestrial Life' in dmystify.

– Rajrup Banerjee

d Thank you so much for taking the time to write to us, we really appreciate it. We will try and implement some of your suggestions in the coming months. Although we don't know about the Extraterrestrial Life, because dmystify is about proper science, not science fiction, and because there's no evidence of such life found yet, it would be a very empty book indeed!

Letter of the Month

I am old fan of your magazine since it was Chip and now I am seventy and still enjoying reading it. What I now like is dmystify so much that I read it before I read the main magazine. I am going to get all of them bound so that I can hand them over to my grandchildren. Tell me can there be a DVD with all these on them? Can we in the near future have such treasure?

Thanks for the good time
Congratulations Robert, Mithun
and your wonderful team
God bless

– Dr Sharad Kochhar

Dear Dr Kochhar, I am the publisher of Digit. Thank you so much for your awesome message. Humbled and bowled over. Readers like you and your messages is what makes this all the more worthwhile to do. Although we do not have a single DVD for all the dmystifys, we will get one put together specially for you and send to you with our compliments.
