As you can see from the build log, the build started off as a bunch of cardboard cutouts prepared on the basis of the original plan. The cutouts are stuck together to gradually get the shape of the Lockheed F-117 Night-hawk. Next, this cardboard structure is placed on the angular support structure that has been prepared on the side. But before that, it has been coloured to resemble the F-117. Going forward, Rakesh is going to put in the rest of the case to complete the build. While you're at it, checkout
