WHAT'S NEW

All the JL revelations by Snyder

On Vero, Zack Snyder has been teasing tiny details like storyboards and concepts that he implemented or had planned for the movie.

If you remember the 'Knightmare' scene from BvS with evil Superman, Snyder had planned to connect it to feature the Anti-Life Equation's use by Darkseid to control Superman. Many people had complained about the Zod turning into Doomsday but he said that the real Doomsday from the comics might be somewhere in the same universe. While fans thought that the damaged Robin's costume belonged to Jason Todd, he revealed that it actually belonged to Dick Grayson. In BvS, you must have seen a glimpse of Flash from the future warning Bruce about Superman in the future. Snyder said that Flash used the Cosmic Treadmill to communicate to indicate that Superman was a threat but nothing more was revealed. We are pretty sure that more of these will continue coming out. However, it's time that fans moved on from expecting a Snyder Cut and look forward to the upcoming slate of DC projects.

The Big Bang Theory ending in 2019

When it premiered back in 2007, The Big Bang Theory didn't take long to become a massively popular TV show. Based around fandom and geek culture, it was the characters that made the show amusing to watch. After winning 10 Emmy awards and receiving 52 nominations during its run, the TV show has come a long way with its 12th season currently going on. However, the show is likely to come to an end by 2019. This means that there won't be a new season after season 12. According to Entertainment Weekly, the reason behind these speculations are Jim Parsons opting to move on from the show. Although the show revolves around several characters, Parsons' character of Sheldon Cooper has to be the most iconic one. Since the show is made up of an entire set of interconnected characters, it would be impossible to continue the show by adding a new face or character to replace Sheldon Cooper.
