Licki Brush

Cats have been a long time obsession of the internet and we've collectively devoted countless hours and immeasurable bandwidth towards appreciating the magnificence, the cuteness and the stupidity of these creatures. Cat owners know the wet and rough licking that the cats like to indulge in from time to time. So why not invest our money towards a device that lets us give them a taste of their own medicine?

Licki Brush is a device that lets you lick your cat like your cat licks you. What else have we evolved over six million years for but to lick our cats back, right? For a mere $25, or about ₹1800, you get a 'high-quality, soft silicone brush' that has been designed to make your feline friend feel favoured (sorry, we couldn't resist that one). All you need to do is get the 'bite' portion locked between your teeth, approach your cat when they don't look like they're about to scratch your face off, and lick away! This device = $25, evolving into a cat = priceless.

BB Sniper

No, that's not an actual crossbow. So everyone looking to cause actual medieval mayhem, tch, violence is bad. The BB Sniper is a mini crossbow that you can carry around on your palm. The crossbow allows you to improve on your sharpshooting skills, without going to a gun range. The ammunition is made out of ball bearings, which is why the weapon is called a BB Sniper. The crossbow can also shoot toothpicks, but the BBs are included in the package. However, do not shoot at humans or animals at any point, to be on the safer side. That being said, feel free to set up a small target on the wall and hone your archery skills.

The BB Sniper is made of stainless steel and comes in Black and Silver variants. It can shoot mini BBs as well. Other products from Uncommon Carry include the Ace Sniper that can load multiple projectiles in one go, the Ghost Hunter Series that comes with an infrared targeting light, and the Phoenix which is a self loading variant. Unleash your inner vampire hunter, one q-tip or toothpick at a time.

Litter-Robot III Open Air

And we're back to the subject of cats (might just be case of personal bias from the writer responsible, but lets hope that goes unnoticed).

If you have a cat at home and also a litterbox where they can take care of bathroom needs, you know how troublesome it can be to have to scoop every time they take a massive dump. The alternative? Letting your home fill with a not-so-adorable stench. Enter Litter-Robot III Open Air, the third iteration of a line of robots that wants to save you from one of the few negative aspects of having a cat.

This litterbox comes loaded with tech. For starters, it has a self cleaning feature where you can set a cleaning cycle of 3-, 7-, 15-minute, depending on how extensively you want the litterbox cleaned each time. A washing machine like mechanism tumbles the interiors to clean up the litter inside. The self cleaning cycle initiates automatically after each use. The litter is sorted into different drawers depending on size. The box is designed to be fully automatic and use up less litter, all the while providing a design that is less restrictive for your cat. To be of use, however, the cat must weigh at least 2.2 kgs, so it is useful for kittens as well. A single model accommodates cats of all sizes. Along with that, it packs features like automatic night light, adjustable cycle timer, and sleep mode, taking into account your and your cat's needs.
