

Honor Play

This reasonably affordable smartphone comes with flagship class hardware and has gamers in its cross-hair. The Honor Play is also one of the few phones that don't offer a glass back, making it a bit more resilient towards 'friendly fire'.

Price: ₹19,999

Huawei Nova 3i

Another phone from the Huawei stable that offers good value while not cutting any corners. The large vibrant display along with good battery life sets this one apart in the 20K segment.

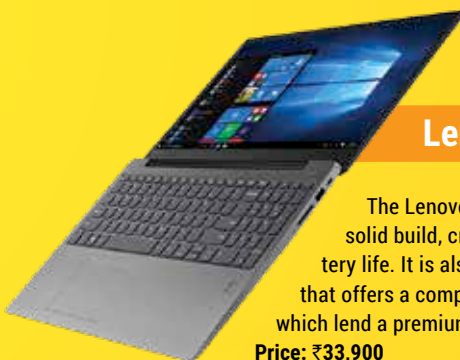

Price: ₹20,990

HP 15q-bu040tu 2018

A balanced machine that ticks most checkboxes for a basic laptop that is not just light on the wallet but also light enough on the weighing scale. The fact that it offers a large 15.6-inch FHD display in the 30K segment makes it an attractive buy.

Price: ₹30,990

Lenovo IdeaPad 330S

The Lenovo IdeaPad 330S makes itself likeable for its classy design, solid build, crisp non-glossy display, and adequate battery life. It is also one of the few laptops in its price range that offers a compact frame and premium finish, both of which lend a premium aura to this affordable laptop.

Price: ₹33,900

Sennheiser CX 275 S

The Sennheiser CX275s packs an inline mic and controls along with a carry pouch and a compatibility adaptor along with it. Its performance is geared towards the popular music of today with a bias towards bass, which makes it quite a popular choice among people looking for a value-for-money pair of earphones for their smartphones.

Price: ₹1,599

JBL C100SI

When it comes to budget-friendly, it is hard to beat the JBL C100SI. With a lightweight build, the C100SI doesn't cut corners on audio performance, offering respectable quality and decent bass while also featuring dedicated call controls and an inline mic.

Price: ₹699

