Booman and Agent 001) and they are just awesome.

Here are some suggestions of magazine:-

- You can include some technologically awesome gadgets (or toys) such as Sphero Bolt, Kano Motion Sensor kit and Google AIY Voice Kit.
- You can add a beginner page for entry level coding and for those who have just enter the world of coding.

Also, I want to buy a Raspberry Pi. So, it would be a pleasure, if you can suggest a Raspberry Pi for me, and project kit that includes a Raspberry Pi and also affordable. Thank you for such a great time. :)

d Hi Nilakantha, Thank you for your kind words. Regarding your suggestions for including gadgets, you will find the DGT section of our magazine to your liking. In it, we feature the gadgets that make us go wow, but just don't fit the traditional format of reviews. On your second suggestion, the Devworx section is a perfect way to get started with coding – try out the Guide to Ember.js this month and let us know how you like it.

The standard Raspberry Pi 3 should be good for most purposes, and can cost you around ₹3,000. You can get one here: <https://dgit.in/Rasp3BP>. As for the kit, you haven't mentioned a budget, so I am going to go with a comprehensive suggestion and recommend one here: <https://dgit.in/RaspKit>. It might seem a bit expensive but will give you all the resources you need to get started with the Pi. Once you've built your project, don't forget to send us pictures at editor@dgit.in @ Hey team digit! It is after a really long time I am writing to you and be forewarned it is going to be a critical and long email.

I am an avid reader of your mag from a long time, and I personally think you already know why I am intrigued like you really seemed out on ideas on this one. When i first held the magazine in my hands i was like 'I think have already bought it before' and then a old memory stuck me about a lonely Fas Track on the same (imagine a curse here) issue .... another of 'already done's are-pg 22-23- done already in dmystify pg34 -37 - i think it was necessary but you took a whole lot of space for it. You would be like how to consume 4 page and someone just saw an old issue and was like let's slap this same thing in again. What's next? Best mac browsers?

pg 52 -61 - no words pg 92 -93 -i have a strange feeling that this is inspired by another IOs of most watched youtube video on the same topic

i could go on and on .....but i would rather like to point you to things that u have lost in course of time phranchise - i really loooooooooooooooooooooooooooooooved that s*& @. It is the jewel of skoar u have lost we can see reviews in ign or another site but phranchise hmm..... that was too good and original

All in all that's all there is to hate about you (leaving digit auto that too deserves a lil' hate) booman force is too strong i suppose anyway i am eager to see if i see phranchise returns, or is my email going to rot in not read section with no reply whatsoever ps.- what's the criterion to any email be published in digit mag (though i know this will never see a green light)???

regards ,

d Hello Abhinav, This is really good feedback! We accept most of the feedback, and in the future, we will try to reduce overlaps with content we have already covered. Some few stories, however, change with time. Infographic based stories have a shelf life, as the statistics are continuously updated. The Infoporn showed the latest numbers at the for October 2018. At times, we get in touch with the agencies and organisations that compile the stats, to get more particular details relevant to the story. Although the topic might have been explored previously or elsewhere, the numbers are the latest. For the blockchain cover story, we really want to know more, so if you could please write in again with a more detailed explanation, we would really appreciate it. We will work on improving the auto section, and find approaches or angles that make it more relevant to our readers. Finally... yeah, as an avid reader myself, I do remember the excellent stories in Skoar!, and remember each roman numeral issue very well. I'll tell you a little secret, the old articles are still available on archive.org. Thanks for your kind words and valuable feedback.

@ Hi, My name is Kartikey. I am from Ghaziabad.

Let's get directly to the point... I have been reading an article in your magazine about ASUS ROG STRIX SCAR II GL504 Gaming Laptop (on page no. 42) and I found that the price of the laptop which is printed on the page is Rs. 92,990. I get very excited and checked it out by the smiley QR code but when I redirected to Amazon it is showing me the price of 143,000 (something). I got confused that either the information which is printed on the page is wrong or the price got too high.

Or 1 option is that it is the starting price but it is showing the HERO edition.

Please help me out.

—Kartikey Gaur

d Hi Karthikey, It looks like we've committed a huge mistake with the pricing and we would like to apologise for getting your hopes so high. Thank you for pointing it out. The actual MRP has been updated on our website where you can read the full review of the laptop. If you're really looking forward to buying this laptop, then don't rush because we have a shopping guide this month that should make things easier for you.
