

diGit diary

If you are ever curious about what the Digit gang is up to, this is the place to get all the inside info. From the latest game we're obsessing about to the newest intern we're driving up the wall – it's all here folks.

October is more of a relaxed month for us. It's one away from the gargantuan Zero1 issue and getting a breather right before that works best for us. And if you've been reading the Digit diary for some time, then you've probably guessed that things didn't go the way we planned. Arnab was off in Shondesh Town, relaxing and meeting up with old friends who'd all converged onto the Motherland for Durga Pujo. That left four of us to do most of the writing but given how things generally run their course at Digit, someone or the other had to fall sick. Abhijit and Manish, the usual culprits a.k.a. "Recreational hospital surfers" a.k.a. "Prime examples of weak immune systems", had to fall sick and that too for a good chunk of the week. This was, of course, the week of Navratri, so not only were there plenty of holidays to drop productivity levels but then you had two more guys from the edit team disappear. Ergo, it was just Aditya and Mithun in the office for a good portion of the time. You see where this is going, right?

In other news, we had some really enthusiastic contributors this month. You'd assume that the enthusiasm was for working with Digit, oh no! The enthusiasm was grossly misplaced and the articles that came in were some of the worst we've ever come across. At first glance, there would be nothing out of the ordinary. The structure seemed fine, spellcheck was all in the green and the format had been followed to the T. The horror was unveiled during closing as we saw a lot of synonym replacements. It's as if the articles were ran through a re-writing service that replaced words with their synonyms to throw off plagiarism scanners. Alas, the synonym replacements were so ridiculous that Shakespeare is probably rolling in his grave right now. Want a few examples? Well, they replaced the term 'cash-back' with 'currency-rear' and 'product shipping' with 'item sailing'. And these were the sensible ones.

In the land down under, Raaabo is house hunting. The lord of the dingos, black widow spiders and wallabies is on the hunt for another place to form his base of operations and preach the tenets of Raaaboism. Last we heard, he has nearly finalised on a place and has nearly inked the deal. World domination just got one step closer to completion.

QUOTE OF THE MONTH
Skates pls
—Robert

DISCUSSIONS

Every month we will highlight some of the more interesting discussions happening on our Digit Forum (digit.in/forum). Head over and join our forum if you want quick answers to your queries from some of the geekiest Indians online. In case you love giving gyaan, or even if you love arguing with others, the Forum is the place you should be.

IEMs below Rs 2000

<https://digit.in/trvliem>

Picking earphones for a daily commute require a particular set of considerations. The cables should be resilient to tangling, should be strong enough to survive sudden tugs or yanks, and the noise isolation should be good enough for particularly noisy environments. The forum members help pick out the perfect IEMs for commuting.

Deep Learning/Gaming Rig

<https://digit.in/dlgr>

The community helps put together a computer to run deep learning networks based on Tensorflow, Keras, PyTorch and Caffe. With a budget of 1.3 lakh, the computer will also be used for playing AAA titles. Check out the options provided by the community for this very specific requirement of the user.

Reading WhatsApp chats from Google Drive

<https://digit.in/wagg>

Without access to a phone, a forum member wanted to read the WhatsApp messages saved on Google Drive. The database is encrypted, and therefore, the end users cannot directly access the data and then read it. Only the WhatsApp app itself can access and restore from the backup. But, is there a workaround possible?

Join the discussions at:

Web: geek.digit.in | Forum: geek.digit.in/community | Facebook: facebook.com/digitgeek