

First showcased in Geneva back in 2016, the Bugatti Chiron is in some ways a successor to the venerable Veyron. It employs a massive 8-litre W16 quad-turbocharged petrol engine to produce 1,500 horsepower. It's capable of sprinting from 0 to 100 kmph in just 2.4 seconds.

Check out the best of what the Paris Motor Show had to offer this year

Vignesh Giridharan
vignesh@digit.in

The new Jaguar I-PACE is based on the E-PACE SUV. It has an all-electric powertrain with its 90kWh battery and dual electric motors. It can go up to 470 km on a single charge and is capable of launching itself from 0 to 100 kmph in 4.8 seconds.

The Enverge concept is by a Chinese car maker somewhat less heard of: GAC Motor. According to the car maker, the Enverge, with its stylish "floating" gull-wing doors and digital dashboard, is capable of covering 595 km on a single charge.