

Fortnite gets another crossover
Wreck-It Ralph makes his way over to Fortnite, marking the game's second pop-culture crossover after Thanos. <https://digit.in/dec18-38-1>

Xbox One with no disk
There is a rumour floating around that indicates the new Xbox One S will be launched without a disk drive. <https://digit.in/dec18-38-2>

Buckle up because this is PUBG Mobile class 101. We tell you how to find your feet in the game and significantly improve your game and teamwork in PUBG Mobile

Shrey Pacheco | shrey@digit.in ave you just started playing PUBG Mobile? Or are you just a poor player with no idea how to improve your gameplay? Well, buckle up because this is PUBG Mobile class 101. Who knows, there might be something here that even the veterans didn't know. Here, we will take a look at some of the most basic things you need to know about playing PUBG mobile. As they said in GI Joe, "and knowing is half the battle!"

H

PS- This article not going to teach you how to run, move, or aim better, or even the basic idea of the gameplay. That is something you can only learn through practice.

USE HEADPHONES!!!!

We cannot stress the importance of this. It doesn't have to be an RGB totting gaming headset, any ol' headphone with a mic will work. This will ensure that you get better spatial awareness and hear any players, vehicles or gunshots around you. It will also let you communicate with your teammates. Speaking of which...

THE MICROPHONE IS YOUR FRIEND

When playing Duos or Squad, switch chat to team and co-ordinate with your teammates. The option to toggle between 'team' and 'all' is located on the left of the mini-map. This is vital as you would be able to plan your routes as well as call out enemy locations to others. Even better, try to get your entire squad to play together from the same place.

KEEP AN EYE ON THE MINI-MAP

The mini-map will show you the location of certain sounds such as footsteps, vehicles or gunshots. This will help you plan your next move. Do you set up an ambush, or hide and let them pass by? That is up to you. It should also be noted that noise made by your teammates does not show up on the mini-map, so you can rule out false alarms.

PICK YOUR LANDING SPOTS CAREFULLY

Since you're reading this, you might not be very good at the game (at least not yet). So try and avoid landing in any of the major landing spots and rather land in a relatively secluded area with a few houses. This will give you the chance to stock up on ammo and weapons in relative peace. You might not be getting the best loot, but you can always hike to the next location and hope for the best. It's better than dying within the first few minutes anyway.

LOOK FOR SIGNS OF PEOPLE

It's always a good idea to approach