

digit diary

We're all stars now, in the Digit Freak show. We welcome all sorts of weirdos as you'd have probably guessed from reading the diary over the years. This month, some of our weirdos decided to have a little pissing contest on who's the weirdest. Gone are the days when kids wanted to be normal, folks over at Digit vie to distinguish their quirks, if not, they want to be crowned king of the weirdos. It all started when Dhriti was showing off her scabs which Arnab thought was not worth a mention, at least not next to his one-handed claps. Yes, Arnab can make clapping sounds with the flick of his wrist. So Manish decided to chime in with his right arm that couldn't bend beyond 90 degrees. Didn't find these odd? We've only put down the mild oddities that the three decided to showcase, the more exotic oddities shall remain unmentioned for obvious reasons.

Most of the team members were experiencing the post-Zero1 blues. After nearly two months of testing all sorts of products, the vacuous lull in December felt a bit too overpowering. Almost everyone could be seen at their desks with pitch black circles underneath their eyes as they stared into the abyss of their screens. All except for Mithun who could be heard cursing his luck over a massive assignment that had to be revised a million times. The pleasures of dealing with freshers are reserved for those of a calm disposition but even they have their own, very human limits.

Mumbai saw Dreamhack and Comic Con this month, the former was much awaited and had all of us board the hype train but the real event turned out to be lacklustre, so that's there. Check out our Instagram to catch all the action. As for the latter, Mumbai Comic-Con saw us wading through the crowds to get a close look at impressive panels like one on how to start your own collection. However, Abhijit curses the popularity of the Con as he had to do most of the wading to get around the packed venue.

In other news, Manish, our resident Gaming Warlord has left the building.

After two years of having the most sought after job in Digit, Manish felt it was time to move on. The lad has packed his things and shifted back to Hyderabad for the foreseeable future but has promised to return. Given that any place after SKOAR! Would feel like a dull affair, we'd like to think that he'll be back, real soon. That's all for 2018, folks! Wish you all a happy new year.

QUOTE OF THE MONTH

"We're working"

— Team Digit after a 6-hour long Monopoly match

DISCUSSIONS

Every month we will highlight some of the more interesting discussions happening on our Digit Forum (digit.in/forum). Head over and join our forum if you want quick answers to your queries from some of the geekiest Indians online. In case you love giving gyaan, or even if you love arguing with others, the Forum is the place you should be.

Is Google turning into Goolag?

<https://digit.in/goolag>

From a search engine to an ad serving behemoth that makes more money than the GDPs of countries, to what extent is Google willing to go to exploit its users and competitors?

Unique / Interesting stuff

<https://digit.in/uistuff>

This thread is stuffed with interesting things to buy on the internet, from self stirring coffee mugs to telescoping magnetic rods for retrieving keys and coins. All these items are delivered to India as well.

STORROR Arrested

<https://digit.in/prkrstd>

A member of a popular YouTube parkour group was recently arrested for jumping between two fourteen-storeyed buildings in Mumbai, without getting prior permission for it. Are you impressed? We sure are!

Join the discussions at:

Web: geek.digit.in | Forum: geek.digit.in/community | Facebook: facebook.com/digitgeek