

digit diary

If you are ever curious about what the Digit gang is up to, this is the place to get all the inside info. From the latest game we're obsessing about to the newest intern we're driving up the wall – it's all here folks.

One of the simplest but greatest pleasures in life is to call up the customer care helpline of your telecom service provider, only to hear them say, "sir, I cannot hear you very clearly". The team has different providers, but nobody manages to get a good signal, which seems to indicate that the Digit HQ is located in some unholy place in a parallel dimension. When we cannot even get an EDGE connection on our devices, expecting the team to write a cover story on 5G and even 6G seemed like rubbing salt in an open wound. Robert decided to add insult to injury, showing off the superfast speeds that he gets in Australia (156 MBPS upload and 52 MBPS download). The team back in Mumbai were planning to fight back by showing off just about the cheapest data rates in the world, when Arnab heroically barged into the conversation and badgered everyone to get back to writing. Aditya continues with his erratic behavior of coming into office and promptly turning off all the lights. He also seems to be taking monthly breaks that suspiciously coincide with the days of the full moon. You are free to draw your own conclusions. Mithun is yet to recover from his visit to the Intel workshop, and is often seen collapsing on the much abused bean bag. Now, if that much flattened bean bag could talk, it would be able to share its own horror story. What happened is that that the bean bag was kept next to one of those superglue mouse traps, and a particularly acrobatic rat managed to drop the trap on the bag, then escape, leaving behind just a few strands of hair. Getting that super sticky glue off the bag took an entire month, and took the combined effort of the entire housekeeping staff. Everyday, the bean bag went through a daily routine of soaping, scrubbing, and airing out in the sunlight. All the glue was almost removed, when the entire office and the bag, were subjected to another assault.

QUOTE OF THE MONTH

"Get Hype"

—Team Digit in anticipation of Cleganebowl

This was holi of course, and it was a full fledged battlefield of colour in the office. By the time all the gulal had settled, there were rain-bow coloured footprints everywhere, and the floor was as slippery as a carrom board. The RGB keyboards in the office were glowing in colours that they were never designed for. This month saw two exits from Team Digit. Nikhil Nagvekar, the intern who comes up with all the snippets has found a cushy job in the signalling department of the Indian Railways. Abhijit from our Test Centre has also left the building. The team wishes them both the best of luck for the future.

DISCUSSIONS

Every month we will highlight some of the more interesting discussions happening on our Digit Forum (digit.in/forum). Head over and join our forum if you want quick answers to your queries from some of the geekiest Indians online. In case you love giving gyaan, or even if you love arguing with others, the Forum is the place you should be.

PUBG Mobile Ban

<https://digit.in/pubgban>

Forum members discuss the ban on PUBG Mobile in some Indian cities, and some wonder if it is easier to and cheaper to simply pull the app from the Play Store in India.

Shreeux's Movie Chronicles

<https://digit.in/shreeux>

Shreeux is so prolific when it comes to watching movies, and goes to so many festivals, that the moderators spun out his own thread from the movies thread.

Frostpunk

<https://digit.in/frostpunk>

Gamers on the community discuss Frostpunk, a demanding game when it comes to meeting goals for your post apocalyptic civilisation, with a particularly difficult endgame.

Join the discussions at:

Web: geek.digit.in | Forum: geek.digit.in/community | Facebook: facebook.com/digitgeek