

AR Minecraft?

Microsoft teased a new AR Minecraft game on their Twitter and YouTube accounts. <https://digit.in/june19-26>

Apex Legends mobile

EA confirmed that Apex Legends for mobile is in works and will probably come soon. <https://digit.in/june19-27>

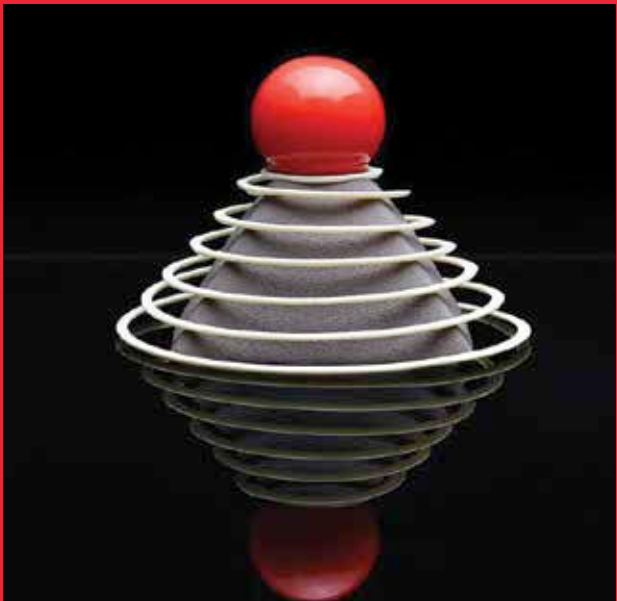

For some people, food is not just a mundane, everyday necessity. Chefs around the world create art out of food, which look too perfect to take a bite out of.

Aditya Madanapalle | aditya@digit.in

You are looking at sliced up fresh raw fish. A Japanese chef plates these breathtaking sashimi art, and you can keep up with his creations on Instagram @mikyoui00.

Dinara Kasko is a chef from Ukraine who channels her training as an architect to create pastries, using expertise in modern technologies, such as moulds that are 3D printed with food grade materials.

Amaury Guichon is a pastry chef who makes chocolate sculptures so awesome that he is one of the most followed people on social media. Shown here is one of his less elaborate creations.

Indonesia based Ivenoven is a cake shop that specialises in making cakes with crazy detailing, that are practically indistinguishable from bouquets of flowers

Caroline Eriksson creates ginger bread art every Christmas, which is usually a figure from pop-culture. The process can take up to two months.

Japan has a form of art that involves carving into food, and it is called miku-mono. Shown here is a creation from Gaku, or gakugakugakugakugaku1.

Hungarian pastry chef Judit Czinkne Poor creates the most incredible artwork with cookies as a canvas, and icing as the paint.