FEEDBACK FOR THE JULY 2019 ISSUE OF DIGIT

Send your feedback at editor@dgit.in Actually we cloud experts like it very much, the recent devworx about "AI platform wars" was awesome. It helped in our cloud projects. After this incident, Digit Magazine in our TCS IRC (library) became a hotcake.

Please keep exploring more new science topics in dmystify & latest technologies in devworx.

—Dilip Alizio

d We're very glad to hear that the magazine is so popular in TCS. We promise to keep the quality as high as possible so that we keep impressing you. Thank you for reading.

 I want to purchase a Digit magazine subscription for the next three years. My current city is Mumbai, and I live on rent. So in the future if I relocate to a different house, or a different city, can I change the address that the magazine is delivered to?

—Puneet Dixit

d Yes you can change delivery locations when you move, but give us two weeks notice. This only applies within India, and does not cover moving internationally. That involves paying for the international delivery method, and then we send you copies of Digit abroad as well. Do note that when moving, some areas will involve a change in your regular courier service and some are only served by India Post, so please let us know in advance so we can work out the fastest way to get your issue of Digit to your new address.

 Hi Team Digit, I am a regular reader, the team work is really remarkable. I also love the posters and Fast Track. I found an error in the the July issue. In the Apple iPadAir 2019 review, the price is written as Rs 23,999, but when I searched the price it was Rs 44,990. Am I getting the wrong price, or is the price mentioned in the magazine wrong?

—Ranajeet Kumar Barik

d Hey Ranajeet, Apologies for the goof-up with the pricing. The new 10.5-inch iPad Air does start at Rs.45,900 as you have pointed out.

—Mithun

 I bought Digit Mag from a nearby store and Skoar was missing. I wanted to know if Skoar is discontinued or not being sold with Digit any more?

—Mayank Dahiya

d SKOAR! has not gone anywhere, it is just inside Digit now, as the last 16 pages of the magazine.

—Manish

 Just received Digit magazine July 2019 edition. I noticed some discrepancy in the URL and QR code that is given on page 31 for digit squad.

—Vineet Kumar

d Whoops, our apologies for that. Looks like we changed the URL but forgot to update the AD. The new URL is dgit.in and we will update the ad. Thank you for pointing this out.

 Dear Digit Team, Recently I noticed a change in dmystify's new topics related to black holes, antimatter etc and articles about Cloud, AI, ML, autonomous vehicles etc.

 Hello, I was a regular reader of Digit from 2001-2011, however I discontinued getting the magazines each month and bought only the Special Issues (June and Dec) due to space issues.

I recently got the June 2019 Special issue. I was very excited to see the new e-DVD. I was expecting you guys to compile some ISO and upload it for download, however that is not the case. The e-DVD is just links to get the software. I am not sure, if you need to provide a coupon to access them as they are all free or trials and available to everyone even otherwise. Maybe you guys could also provide 1 or 2 DVD5 or DVD9 ISO files and upload it on some file sharing site and users can download the same. I also request you to please continue the DVD that you provide with the magazine.

I also bought the last few issues of Digit for the Fast Track and DVDs. I like the movies that you provide on the DVD. Is there a way to get older issues of Digit with Fast Track and DVDs?

I would also like you to please try and cover the topics listed below in your future Fast Tracks:

- Microsoft Outlook (1 or 2 Parts)
- Microsoft Exchange (3-4 parts)
- Microsoft SharePoint (2-3 parts)
- Microsoft Office 2019 (1-2 parts)
- Microsoft Azure
- Microsoft Windows 2019 Server (1-2 parts)
