Things cut in half, or cross sections can be illustrated or actual photographs. These are educational, and allow you to directly see the inner workings of machines, buildings, vehicles and even life forms. Shown here is the automatic transmission of a Lexus LS 460 Sport.

Shelves, boxes, book cases, kitchen cabinets and wardrobes need not be a cluttered mess. Apart from the convenience, organised living spaces can be surprisingly inspiring.

Technology porn may include volumes of discarded tech, a well built PC, or cutting edge machines. Shown here is the instrument that measures marsquakes on the InSight lander.

Yeast, mold and fungi all come in various shapes and forms, and many of these are truly stunning. Amanita muscaria, the shroom from Mario is a particular favorite in this community.

These are just incredibly well thought of interiors, allowing you to peek into the private living spaces around the world, and possible get some ideas for your own rooms.
