It's that time of the year again. December is when we do a lot of things, with the Zero1 awards being the biggest of all. However, over the years, we've also tried to give you a quick refresh of the year, from December last year to the end of November this year, so that we can recollect all that happened for posterity. Some day, long in the future, when you sit around reminiscing about your life, we're hoping you will bring out Digit's Rewinds of all the years and look back at how primitive technology used to be. Maybe you will be showing your grandkids how life used to be, or just sitting around with friends playing trivia... who knows what the future holds.

Well, actually we tried to do that as well (know what the future holds), which is why instead of Rewind being a book of its own, we decided to do a Fast Forward instead, and Rewind has been given a new space at the end of the magazine. Fitting, because it comes at the end of the year...

Because we're short on space, however, this year's Rewind will have more links for you to follow and read, but it will still recap the whole year gone by. Without the luxury of a whole book, it will be much harder to do our usual categories, and instead, we're going with half a page for each month. Remember to send us feedback about this effort of ours, and tell us whether you prefer Rewind or Fast Forward as a book. Now get your time travel gear in order, and let's go!

PS. You can access all the links for extra reading at <https://digit.dropmark.com/745511>. They're all segregated into neat, month-wise folders, so you can sit back, relax, and rewind...
