

digit diary

If you are ever curious about what the Digit gang is up to, this is the place to get all the inside info. From the latest game we're obsessing about to the newest intern we're driving up the wall – it's all here folks.

Schadenfreude, or so we thought. If an emotion could be used to describe what we're feeling right now, then it's more of a bittersweet one. For starters, it's not just us who are suffering this month in the wake of some unforeseen catastrophe but the whole world joins us in our monthly ritual of being smacked in the face by the cruel tendrils of destiny. While this does apply to most of us, there was no one other than Robert who was most elated to see the rest of the team having to step into his shoes and work from home.

As we have all started working from home, things haven't been so smooth as we'd expected. Most of us took all the essential stuff we'd need to work from home but there's always that one guy in every group who has to liven things up. That person was Aditya this month as he forgot to take the right software and ended up with incompatible files that none of the others could use. Thankfully, things worked out towards the end with little frustration.

Upon the announcement of the 21-day lockdown there was some panic among the team. Robert had already stocked up on food for the near future but indulged in a little panic buying anyways. What did he get? Tabletop games to provide a different kind of entertainment. The younger ones in the team had their priorities right, Manish and Dhriti dashed out to secure their stock of junk food. If anyone wants a huge cache of biscuits and banana chips then there are two homes in Mumbai where you can get these in plenty. Mithun, on the other hand, has missed out on his supply of snacks and was seen crestfallen in a corner somewhere.

More time indoors would mean more time to game, right? RIGHT? OBVIOUS, INNIT?!?!? YER GAWDDAMN WRONG!

Adi's home PC is nowhere capable of giving him the same Warframe experience as the office machine so he's taken it slow. Robert barely plays anything aside from a few select games. Manish is gaming as usual but having to work from home meant less time gaming. Dhriti is the filthy casual among us all. That leaves Mithun, who spent some time in DOOM Eternal before starting off with Half Life: Alyx. But fate seems to have played a cruel joke on him as his monitor conked off about 15 minutes into Half Life: Alyx. He can no longer use his main computer till he can figure out a way to remote desktop into the machine. Cruelty should have limits!

QUOTE OF THE MONTH

"F@£$%^CK!"
– Mithun on 21-day lockdown

DISCUSSIONS

Every month we will highlight some of the more interesting discussions happening on our Digit Forum (digit.in/forum). Head over and join our forum if you want quick answers to your queries from some of the geekiest Indians online. In case you love giving gyaan, or even if you love arguing with others, the Forum is the place you should be.

App/Interfaces for Digit Forum

An old reader, Sarath, returned after almost a decade and now needs to know newer alternatives for apps such as Snapbucket, can you help him out?

<https://digit.in/appintdf>

Cryptocurrencies in India

Now that the RBI order banning cryptocurrency trading in India has been revoked by the SC, community members want to know about the best local exchanges.

<https://digit.in/crypoin>

Steps to fix a BSOD

The forum members come together to help fix a repeated BSOD error on a laptop, with a "bad pool caller error" showing up about 10 minutes after starting up.

<https://digit.in/bsodfix>

Join the discussions at:

Web: geek.digit.in | Forum: geek.digit.in/community | Facebook: facebook.com/digitgeek