

digit diary

If you are ever curious about what the Digit gang is up to, this is the place to get all the inside info. From the latest game we're obsessing about to the newest intern we're driving up the wall – it's all here folks.

We're all officially fed up of working-from-home. Cabin fever has taken over, and we actually find ourselves missing the smog and pollution, and the incredible hustle and bustle that is regular Mumbai life. Working from home seems to have brought out the worst in everyone! Aditya who normally wakes up at 1 PM anyway, has had his body clock go into insane mode. it's become so crazy that at 3 PM when we're wanting to have a meeting, Aditya is ready to say goodnight. We're starting to believe he's becoming a vampire. In a meeting we asked him to come on webcam, and all we could see was a dark room (at two in the afternoon!), black curtains, and a very eerie looking outline that kind of looked like him, but even skinnier! We were all straining our eyes to try and see if he was sitting in a coffin, or had a cape on...

Dhriti, on the other hand, was wearing a facemask on camera, which confused us all. "COVID isn't transmitted electronically you know" commented Mithun, but she still refused to remove the mask. Only later when the married Raaabo joined the call from Australia did he spill the beans.

With beauty parlours closed everywhere, women all over the world were resorting to wearing masks to hide natural hair growth. Not like we'd notice anyway, or even care, since she's just one of the guys to us, and we're all sporting pretty pathetic-looking facial hair ourselves! "Chill!", said Raaabo, "Unless you actually have more facial hair than the boys, you've got nothing to be embarrassed about". Of course Manish, being the most evil of us, has promptly started calling her Dheeraj now.

QUOTE OF THE MONTH

"At least I know I'm not going insane!"

– Raaabo (whilst clearly acting insane).

Overall, this was the craziest anniversary issue of all time.

We realise that we say that every anniversary issue, but this time we're so far out from normal, that it will be impossible to beat this!

knocks on wood

Oh please powers that be, don't take that as a challenge!

We can't wait to get back into office! We're missing the place – screwed up air conditioners, rats and all! Most importantly we're missing that steady stream of gadgets and gizmos that keep flowing through, and the joy of picking up a product and reviewing it. Although we're not usually the emotional types, there are going to be some serious wet eyes, with Dhriti hugging her headphones, Manish hugging the PS4, Mithun hugging his work PC, and Adi hugging himself as he freezes under the only working AC on our floor.

DISCUSSIONS

Every month we will highlight some of the more interesting discussions happening on our Digit Forum (digit.in/forum). Head over and join our forum if you want quick answers to your queries from some of the geekiest Indians online. In case you love giving gyaan, or even if you love arguing with others, the Forum is the place you should be.

Literary gems

The community members discuss their favorite authors, suggestions on what to start reading next, and brief reviews of the works they have just finished reading.

<https://digit.in/litgem>

The Spotify thread

The thread has a large number of tools and web apps to use with Spotify, as well as links to playlists put together by the forum members in a wide variety of genres.

<https://digit.in/spotifythread>

Indians and piracy

All the concerns of the Aarogya Setu app addressed, as well as a discussion on the attitudes of Indian citizens to privacy, personal data laws and how we use our data.

<https://digit.in/indpriv>

Join the discussions at:

Web: geek.digit.in | Forum: geek.digit.in/community | Facebook: facebook.com/digitgeek