

Jensen Ackles Joins The Boys

Jensen Ackles of Supernatural fame is joining the cast of The Boys in Season 3 as Soldier Boy. <http://dgit.in/sep20-97>

No Black Widow on Disney+

The Black Widow movie will not be following Mulan's suit and won't release digitally on Disney+. <http://dgit.in/sep20-98>

If you have a good cross content radar, you must have seen videos of anti maskers in India as well. They are best called covakoofs, which is the Urdu variation of covidiot. Anti maskers are not new, just like anti vaxxers. In fact, an anti-mask league was formed in San Francisco during the pandemic of 1918.

MORE ZOOMING

Zoom is responsible for changing so much of our vocabulary over the pandemic that this section would not be complete without the software. After jumping from room to room throughout the day, you become a zoombie at the end. Then we have the upperwear and the related infits, which is the only wear that matters for videoconferencing. You probably got those references if you read last month's Hot or Not. Other related terms include a Zoom Shirt that you throw on to instantly look smarter just before a meeting starts, or the Coronamullet, which is all business on top but casual at the bottom. That's a shirt, tie and a jacket paired with boxers. Zoom is meant for meetings but the popularity of the app is now so much that people are using it for video streaming as well, which is when you get a Zoom Cast. Your backgrounds matter which is where you get Zoom Rooms from, not to be confused with the hardware solution of the same name. Then there are the Zoom Happy Hours, which is the time when you are allowed to use fancy backgrounds and AR lenses, or Zoom calls with friends and family instead of coworkers. Of course, in India it is used for playing Housie on the Tambola, where you can see that old uncle virtually dressed up as Shikari Shambhu. Remember that time when the boss of an advocacy group turned into a potato, and could not find a way to change the settings for the rest of the meeting? Well people are doing that to themselves voluntarily now. Hopefully this is enough information for you to figure out what a zooty call is, which may or may not end up in someone getting zumped.

that they could actually take that vacation, and use that Airbnb they had booked all those months ago. This was provided of course, they could bear the long hours of flight in a mask, and wear one throughout their visit no matter where they went. This led to a second wave of uncancellations. In fact Make-MyTrip introduced an uncancel feature so that vacationgoers could stick to their original plans without having to make them all over again from scratch. Then it went on to mean uncancelling anything that regularly gets cancelled, from people erased from pop culture for bad or erratic behavior (such as JK Rowling, Louis CK, George Lucas or Johnny Depp) to TV Shows such as The OA. Arrow or Vikings.

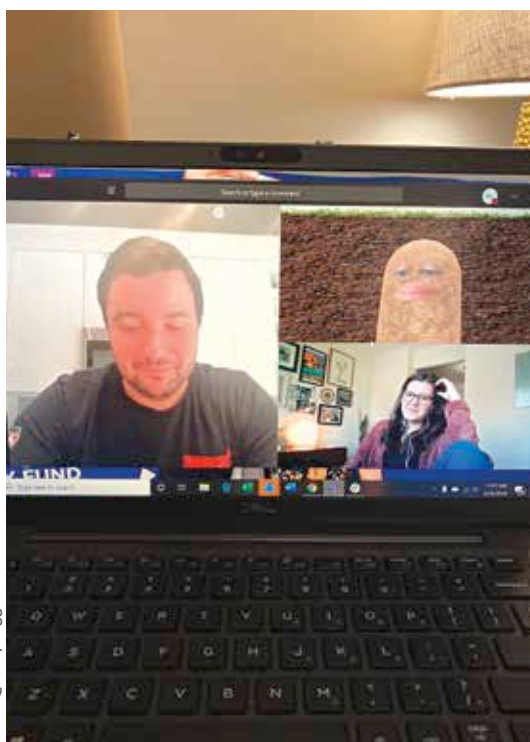

CAR DESIGN

Suddenly, ride sharing and carpooling have become very dangerous, and auto manufacturers are rethinking the designs of the interiors, and coming up with ways in which to make their vehicles safer for those who have to share vehicles, or use cabs. Even before the pandemic, some cars had ion generators that killed pathogens and filtered the air, these devices could become more common. Other ideas include using UV light or temperature to purge the germs after every ride, or coating the surfaces with materials that repel germs and are toxic to microbes. The common touch points such as handles, gear shifts, and steering wheels at least could be coated with these germ repelling materials. A dome light at the roof of the car can be used to bathe the interiors with UV light and kill off microbes, but it will have to be done between rides as excessive exposure to UV light can be harmful to humans as well. Meanwhile Ford has already introduced a model in Europe that heats the interiors at 56 degrees Celsius, for a period of fifteen minutes after a ride, to kill all the germs. 📺

UNCANCEL

The first wave of uncancellations started when the world went into lockdown, after people who realised that they were moving needed to continue using all the services that they had subscribed for, or were suddenly stuck in homes with neatly packed boxes that they had to unpack again. Everything from movie releases, to concerts, to conferences had to be either cancelled or moved online. Then the world started opening up again, including air corridors between countries that the pandemic had not affected too badly, people began to realise

ZOMG! The boss is a potato!