

Robotic burger-flipper

A White Castle restaurant has been testing a robot - Flippy, to serve their iconic sliders. <http://dgit.in/nov20-89>

Audible expands to podcasts

Audible is now foraying into podcasts, and will be offering free content to its users. <http://dgit.in/nov20-90>

digit diary

October has been quite uneven, if we're to be honest. Aside from the big ticket announcements and launches from AMD and NVIDIA, there really hasn't been much going on.

In fact, Mithun barely had any time with the RTX 3090 when it came in and he's been ranting about it at anyone who'll lend an ear. Aditya seems to have finally picked up another game to play aside from Warframe. No, he's not ditching Warframe anytime soon.

Sanctum is the apple of Aditya's eye these days and he's been having quite a bit of fun in the first-person shooter cum tower defense game. The visuals do share a likeness with Warframe so we can see why he was attracted to the game but the concept of mixing FPS with TD is also quite rare and this happens to be one of the few games that has done it quite well.

The rest of the folks are not missing the office right now. Not at all. Not one bit. October usually has some nasty heat spells and, if you're a regular reader, you've read our countless complaints and rants about how the ACs are absolutely abysmal in the office. Compound that with the fact that we sit on the top floor of the building with the sun heating our ceiling directly, and you have a little oven situation going on. We can count this as a silver lining of working from home.

Still, we do miss the office kitty. Last we checked, she'd grown to be a majestic cat with a family of her own.

In other news, we have started preparing for our annual Zero1 special issue which happens to be the most hectic month in the year after our anniversary issue month. Products have already started flowing into our homes and we've been running out of space already.

It's going to take some extra effort to pull off all the testing that we generally have to do for the Zero1 awards and you'll get a front row seat to view our plights as we go into the month of November.

That's about it, we really don't have much more to add. Everyone has been so tied up with all different sorts of work and hectic, life-sucking schedules that there has barely been any virtual socialising. Nor have there been any funny antics to write about. Shocking right?

I'm personally, more disappointed about that fact than the rest since there's little fuel to fire my creative writing skills. sigh

See you folks next month! 📅

QUOTE OF THE MONTH

Collective sigh
– Everyone

DISCUSSIONS

Every month we will highlight some of the more interesting discussions happening on our Digit Forum (dgit.in/forum). Head over and join our forum if you want quick answers to your queries from some of the geekiest Indians online. In case you love giving gyaan, or even if you love arguing with others, the Forum is the place you should be.

Alternative career options

Disillusioned by the uncertainties associated with app development, soorajdigit is looking for alternative career paths for IT professionals.

<http://dgit.in/altit>

Mobile Under 45k

Forum member dexterz is on the hunt for a suitable smartphone with an AMOLED display, oriented towards gaming and photography, which is the most suitable option?

<http://dgit.in/mob45k>

Printers for small businesses

Reader izzikio_rage is interested in buying a printer for mostly monochromatic prints, with the rider that the cartridge refilling process has to be as painless as possible.

<http://dgit.in/printfill>

Join the discussions at:

Web: geek.digit.in | Forum: geek.digit.in/community | Facebook: facebook.com/digitgeek