

Malcolm & Marie Trailer

Starring only Zendaya and John David Washington, the monochrome love story hits Netflix on February 5. <http://digit.in/feb21-37>

Netflix Announces 2021 Movies

Netflix to release 70 films in total, one new movie every week, as part of their aggressive 2021 business model. <http://digit.in/feb21-38>

Put on your Pandemic fatigues

It's a blursed day if spike proteins burst your corona bubble, just self isolate and cook a fakeaway!

Aditya Madanapalle | aditya@digit.in

PANDEMIC FATIGUE

As the months go by, an increasing number of people are not following the social distancing norms, and aren't taking all the precautions needed to stay safe during a pandemic. Researchers believe that this is one of the factors contributing to a resurgence in the spread of the virus in the United States and Europe. Scientists are investigating this phenomenon of "pandemic fatigue" to figure out methods by which people are more motivated for following the rules. One of the problem areas identified is that almost everyone had to change the way they do very basic things such as use the elevator, visit a supermarket, hire a cab, or eat at a restaurant. In addition to that the specific rules and protocols in place changed over the course of the pandemic, leading to people having to constantly change their behaviors further. Another problem for people is that they do not have separate living and work areas, which makes the tasks in both these domains interfere with each other. Many people are just not able to work from home, homeschool their kids, and get all the additional domestic chores that come with living in isolation. Mitigating any of these mental burdens can potentially nudge people into toeing the line, and following whatever rules are in place.

BURSTING BUBBLES

All kinds of bubbles have been bursting through the course of the pandemic, and depending on the context it can mean a sudden loss of business in what looked like a growing and thriving