2021 is an exciting year for anime watchers, with many anticipated sequels returning, plus a whole bunch of new anime to sink your teeth into. Note that by the time you do end up reading this article, many of the anime on this list might already have aired their first episode.

So, you could always give them a try before deciding whether you want to stick with them till the end of the spring season. As a side note for the uninitiated, we've used the abbreviation MC a lot, it stands for main character. Now, with that being said, let's get into the list of new and upcoming anime.

BOKU NO HERO ACADEMIA SEASON 5

The fifth season of the hugely popular My Hero Academia should already have aired an episode or two by the time you read this. This season will cover the joint training arc, where the students of class 1-A (the MC's class) and class 1-B have been split into groups of four. Expect a lot more shenanigans from Deku and co., new characters, and of course, a lot of hype and action, as is to be expected from My Hero Academia.

IJIRANAIDE, NAGATORO-SAN

Ijiranaide, Nagatoro-san is an upcoming comedy/romance/slice of life anime that's all about Naga-toro and her obsession with teasing and torturing her older male classmate. But for some reason (that's very obvious) her senpai puts up with all of her antics. Is there a reason for her constant teasing? Well obviously, but you might want to watch the fun unfold for yourself. The trailer for the anime has generated a lot of hype, making it one of the more anticipated shows to watch out for this spring.
