

GEEK CULTURE IS OUR WAY OF LIFE, AND ENCOMPASSES MOVIES, GAMES, COMICS, AND TRENDS FROM ACROSS THE GLOBE

THIS MONTH IN CULT:
Learn more about the world of anime and get started with watching. In 1000 Words, we take a look at some NFT artwork for oxygen cylinders. Finally, head over to Hot or Not to learn about the latest trends.

DC announces Injustice: Gods Among Us movie

DC has announced an animated movie adaption of the popular fighting game, Injustice: Gods Among Us. Oddly, the film was revealed via a press release for Batman: The Long Halloween, Part Two instead of an official announcement. <http://dgit.in/injustice-movie>

WHAT'S NEW

Amazon buys MGM for 8.4 billion USD

Amazon recently announced that it is buying Hollywood studio, MGM, for $8.45 billion. The acquisition will give Amazon Prime a huge library of films and TV shows. MGM, or Metro Goldwyn Mayer, owns the Epix cable channel and is home to popular TV shows such as Fargo, Vikings, and Shark Tank. Additionally, it also has an impressive catalogue of films including the James Bond franchise, the Rocky franchise, RoboCop, and others. Once regulatory approval for this acquisition is provided, Amazon will be able to host more than 4,000 films and 17,000 TV shows on its Prime Video service. Mike Hopkins, Senior Vice President of Prime Video and Amazon Studios said, "The real financial value behind this deal is the treasure trove of (intellectual property) in the deep catalog that we plan to reimagine and develop together with MGM's talented team. It's very exciting and provides so many opportunities for high-quality storytelling". <http://dgit.in/AmazonMGM>

Marvel Studios to release five films in 2023

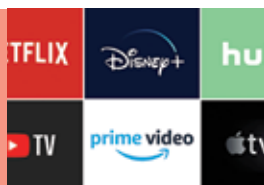

Disney has made tweaks to its theatrical release schedule yet again due to the Covid-19 pandemic. These tweaks primarily include shifting two untitled Marvel films to 2023, as per Deadline. Previously, Marvel Studios had three films slated for 2023 theatrical releases including Ant-Man and the Wasp: Quantumania, Guardians of the Galaxy Vol. 3 and an unknown Marvel film with a release date of July 28, 2023. Now, two more untitled MCU films will be moved from 2022 release dates to 2023. This means 2023 will be the first year with MCU films scheduled for release. Despite the delays of the untitled films, fans will get their fair share of Marvel Phase 4 action with a few films releasing this year. The much anticipated Black Widow movie will FINALLY release on July 9, 2021, followed by Shang-Chi and the Legend of the Ten Rings coming on September 3, 2021 and Eternals on November 5, 2021. Marvel hasn't revealed what the two delayed movies are, however. <http://dgit.in/MCUDelays>

Straight to streaming

Five films in 2021 that are skipping cinemas and heading to streaming directly include Vivo, Infinite, Luca, Fatherhood, and The Tomorrow War. More and more films have begun adopting this practice since the pandemic. <http://dgit.in/streamingonly>

What If...?

Marvel's What If...? series will reportedly be coming to Disney+ this August, according to IGN. The release will follow Tom Hiddleston's Loki series on June 9 and the release of the highly-anticipated Black Widow film on July 9. <http://dgit.in/whatif>

New Batman animated series

New Batman animated series directed by JJ Abrams and Matt Reeves will be heading to HBO Max and Cartoon Network. The series is titled 'Batman: Caped Crusader' and is a "reimagining of the Batman mythology". <http://dgit.in/batmanseries>